NALOXONE HCl NASAL SPRAY 4MG & 8MG

FOR OPIOID OVERDOSE

With this Naloxone nasal spray, anyone can reverse an opioid overdose, possibly with just one dose. Naloxone quickly reverses the life-threatening effects of known or suspected opiate (narcotic) overdose in adults and children and helps them regain their ability to breathe normally again.

This medication works only if a person has opioids in their system, having no affect if opioids are not present. So administering naloxone isn't likely to harm anyone, but could save someone in an opioid overdose.

Recently, the FDA has approved a higher dose naloxone hydrochloride nasal spray as part of increased efforts to stunt surges in opioid-related deaths. On average, overdoses involving highly potent opioids require more naloxone to reverse the effects. One of our products contains 8mg of naloxone per dose. This is important because 34% of opioid overdose reversals involve 2 or more doses of the standard 4mg of naloxone. This number is expected to increase significantly over the coming years.
